Later returns make no material change in the party strength in the next Kentucky Legislature as reported in the Courier-Journal yesterday. The reports from the senatorial races are | Though He Has Majority conclusive, and the Democrats have certainly twenty-five Senators. The General Assembly stands:

On the face of the returns, the Democrais will have sixty-three votes on joint ballot in the Maryland Legislature, as against fifty-eight for the Republicans, which would insure the election of Arthur P. But the Republicans will be able to organize the House, and it is freely predicted that after doing so they will unseat enough Democrats to give them a majority on joint ballot.

Held By the Republicans In Maryland.

GORMAN MAY BE DEFEATED,

On Joint Ballot.

DEMOCRATS MAY BE UNSEATED

AFTER THE REPUBLICANS HAVE ORGANIZED THE HOUSE. AND THIS IS EXPECTED.

LIVELY TIME IN PROSPECT.

Baltimore Nov 6 -- Returns received in this city up to midnight and including every county in the State, partly official and partly estimated, indicate a result in the legislative contest which is almost without parallel in Maryland. The most careful estimates and calculations give the Democrats forty-six ators, which, combined with the ten who hold over in the Senate, assures the friends of Mr. Gorman a total of sixtythree on joint ballot. The Republicans, it appears, have elected forty-nine Delegates and six Senators, which, added to their three hold-over Senators, gives them a total of fifty-eight on joint bal-

These figures indicate that the Repub. licans will be able to organize the House of Delegates, in which event, it sufficient Democrats in the lower branch, substituting for them members of their own party, in order to procure a majority on joint ballot. Democratleaders freely assert that this is the intention of the Republicans, and do not hesitate to say that they will use every means in their power to prevent such a step.

Situation In Baltimore.

The situation in Baltimore city is a peculiar one, in that the returns from the Second legislative district are in the result there uncertain as to two legislative candidates. The election judges in two precincts became involved jection of several ballots, and finally locked the ballots and the poll-books in the ballot-box and turned them over to the Supervisors of Election with the statement that they declined to sign the returns. One of the Democratic candidates lacks but 97 votes of election, and another needs but 103. The Republicans seem inclined to concede the election of the first-mentioned when the returns are in from the two missing precinots, but assert that the other will be beaten. In the accompanying table, therefore, but one Democrat in Baltimore city is put down as probably elected, while the Republicans are given sixteen. The ballots will not be counted until noon to-morrow, until which time nothing definite can be done.

Some Surprising Changes.

One of the surprises of the day was the close vote in Allegheny county, heretofore safely Republican by majorities ranging from 1,200 to 2,000. The Democrats have elected their Senator, and one Republican in that county, and the result as to the remaining four Delegates is close. St. Mary's county, which had been considered doubtful, which had been considered doubtful, has gone solidiy Democratic, and Washington Wilkinson, one of the picturesque figures on the Republican side have a majority of forty-one in the Legof the Senate, is relegated to private Notices of Contest Already Being Filed.

Washington, Nov. 6 .- [Special.] -- Its a bad tangle in Maryland over the Legislature. At midnight to-night the result shows that the Democrats have the Senate by majority of seven, but the Republicans the House of Delegates by majority of two. This on the face of the returns would give the Democrats a majority of five on joint ballot and the United States

But the Republicans are charging fraud and have already filed a dozen notices of contest against Democratic members-elect. This means that they propose to throw out all the Democratic votes that are necessary to enable to elect their Senator. As they may be able to organize the House, it is clear that their scheme is to steal a Senator.

In Senator Gorman, however, they have an old and trained politician to + fight, and they may slip up on their programme. The Democrats are watching their enemy closely, and are having a count in close districts that Republicans claim they have carried. The result in Baltimore is a complete surprise to the Democrats; they carried that city one year ago by 13,000, and lost it yesterday by 5,000. It seems that the new ballot law worked against the Democratic electors more than the Republicans.

the Cleveland elections. In two of these three exceptional years the President was a Democrat and those were considered "off years" for the Democrats. With the single exception of Hoadley in 1883, the Democrats never elected a Governor of Ohio in any other than an "off year" since the Republican party started, and then they won on a local issue of liquor taxation.

Wherever local issues were paramount this year the Republicans sustained losses, notably in Columbus, on account of local option, and in Cleveland on account of Mayor Johnson's agitation of "taxation inequalities."

Where no such conditions were confronted the Republicans made gains, and they carried some Democratic counties that never before were represented by Republicans. Chicago, Nov. 6.-Eight human bodies were taken this evening from two crates at the freight depot of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railway. They were consigned to R. J. Thrilling Scene.

The scene in the court room as he inished with these words was thrilling. The attendance had been large all day and at the morning session a woman had fainted from excitement. As Mr. Rayner began his eulogy of Admiral Schley those in the audience, many of whom were ladies, leaned forward in their seats. The spell of his oratory was over them and when he described the Admiral's gallant deeds and the ong persecution to which he had been subjected many of them wept.

Moved To Tears.

The members of the court displayed vidences of emotion and Rear Admira chley himself was plainly moved. He sat, leaning back, with his hands be hind his head. His chin twitched and as his counsel said he could afford to await the verdict of posterity, two big tears rolled down his cheeks. He noved uneasily to conceal his emotion glasses, brushed the tears aside. For full thirty seconds after Mr. Rayner closed there was not a sound.

Burst of Applause.

Then the tension broke in a loud burst of applause. Admiral Dewey, after about half a minute, arose to remind the spectators that such a demonstration was out of place. A moment afterward the court adjourned, the Judge Advocate pleading that he could not well go on to-day Then another remarkable thing happened. As soon as the gavel fell the entire audience surged forward to shake the hands of Rear Admiral Schley and Mr. Rayner. But the on coming spectators fell back a momen as they saw Admiral Dewey and his two associates move around the table, as if by a common impulse, and congratulate Admiral Schley and his counsel. Even Capt. Lemly, the Judge Advocate, came forward to join in the congratulations. Then the public had its inning, and for fifteen minutes after the court adjourned Admiral Schley. the court adjourned Admiral Schley and Mr. Rayner were kept busy shak-ing hands.

Day's Proceedings. Mr. Rayner's argument to-day consumed the whole day of the court except for half an hour at the opening. which Capt. Parker, his associate cousel, occupied in concluding. Mr. Rayner took up the specifications one by one. saving those relating to the retrograde movement until the last. So far as he was able to do so he used the testimony of the department's witnesses to prove his contentions. With regard to the retrograde movement, which he disthe other specifications, he adduced in justification not only all Admiral Schley's reasons for belleving the Spanish fleet was not in Santiago, but argued that every officer charged with the responsibility of command must be clothed with discretion in carrying out instructions. He displayed good temper in adverting to the testimony of most of the officers, especially the ranking officers who seemed to contradict his client, giving them in each case credit for honesty of purpose. But with a few he dealt unsparingly. Hood, Potts and Bristol he held up to ridicule.

Capt. Lemly will begin the closing argument to-morrow afternoon, as the court will not hold a session to-morrow morning. Immediately after court convened at 11 o'clock this morning, Capt. Parker took up his speech where he left off yesterday, considering in turn the reconnoissance of May 31, the coaling question and the battle of July 3, including the loop of the Brooklyn, Referring to the battle of Santiago, he said:

"If the Spanish gunners could have shot as the Americans did, Admiral Schley, instead of being on trial as he is to-day, would be in a sailor's grave."

Often Mr. Rayner dropped into humor which provoked smiles. He discussed the message delivered by the Eagle to Commodore Schley, when the latter was en route to Clenfuegos and met Capt. McCalla's sub-squadron returning to Key West. He said:

The Message Which Failed.

Where is the megaphone message of Commander Southerland? Is it still in the megaphone? Or is it vibrating upon the tropical breezes of the Caribbean? Southerland must either have gotten at the wrong end of the instrument or per-haps the instrument was like the stadiyards. At any rate, the message that the Scorpion did receive and which has been insurgent camp in the vicinity of Clenfue-gos? Oh, no. That a signal code had oeen agreed upon with the friendly na-tives? Oh, no. These were all mysteries been agreed upon with the friendly hatives? Oh, no. These were all mysterles that it is not proper to communicate to the commander of the flying squadron. Instead of that a dull thud fell upon his isrening and anxious ears. "No news of the Spaniards" was the thrilling intelligence that he received, and with it the Eagle and her megaphone went on her way rejoicing and the Marblehead sped to the presence of the Commander-In-Chief at Key West with his profound secret buried in the bosom of her fearless commander.

"Dear Schley" Letter.

Discussing dispatch No. 7, known as the "Dear Schley" letter, Mr. Rayner that message made it incumbent upon Commodore Schley to remain at Clenfuegos. He declared that this was the key to the whole case, and that it did not admit of any other construction than that Commodore Schley should re-than that Commodore Schley should remain at Clenfuegos.

Mr. Rayner, in support of this contention, read the department's order to Rear Admiral Sampson directing him to notify Commodore Schley, by the Iowa, to proceed off Santiago, Rear Admiral Sampson, instead of transmitting that order, and re-enforcing it, had transmitted it, with directions to remain off Clenfuegos, on the ground that the holding of that port would offer the best chance of capturing and destroying the Spanish fleet. This modification of the department's orders by Rear Admiral Sampson had been followed by Order No. 8, directing him "if satisfied that the fleet was not in Clenfuegos to proceed, but cautions," aggravated his malady, while the refusal of the family to permit certain measures customary in Western medical practice for relieving the stomach, contributed to bring his end sooner, in-chief at Key West. Order No. 8.

Order No. 8, upon which the counsel on the other side had laid so much stress, he said, did not permit Comm dore Schley to leave until satisfied that the Spanlards were not in Cienfuegos If it had reached Commodore Schley as Rear Admiral Sampson believed as Rear Admiral Sampson believed it would, by 2 a. m. April 23, he could not have left. That dispatch reached Commodore Schley at 8 a. m. April 23, and on that day the Adula was sent in—a fact which Mr. Rayner said he regarded as one of the most important in the campaign. When the Adula did not come out the next day, as her skipper had agreed to do, Commodore Schley was still further confirmed in the belief that Cervera was in Clenfuegos.

An Unreasonable Request.

"I want to say right here," continued Mr. Rayner, "that as brave a man as McCalla is and as daring and fearless a soul as he is, never pretended to land any boats on the Cuban coast, and he was around there eight days. This is and under the pretense of adjusting his not criticism of him, but to show that you are criticising one man for not doing what another man never attempted

Concerning the question of coaling at sea, Mr. Rayner read the testimony of several witnesses to prove the great difficulties such a task involved. He said that all they wanted to prove was that Rear Admiral Schley was honest when he informed the department of his increased anxiety regarding the coal supply, and that he acted according to the dictates of his own conscience. He said the question was not how long the fleet could have remained off Santiago on blockade, but what the fleet could have done had the Spaniards come out. He was prepared to prove that one ship could not have followed the Spaniards six hours, and have had enough coal left to return to Key West.

The Reconnoissance.

Coming to the reconnoissance of May 31, Mr. Rayner contended that it had been Commodore Schley's chief intenteries, and in this, he said, he had been eminently successful. He claimed that the man who was in command at such a time should be given great discretion a time should be given great discretion, for he must necessarily know more of the situation than the gentlemen who make out battle plans at home on charts, with compass and lead pencils, and direct other people, thousands of miles away, how to fight a battle.

Bristol's Vision.

Mr. Rayner referred satirically to the estimony of Lieut. Bristol, saying among other things:

Brooklyn's Loop.

with the loop of the Brooklyn on July opinions gathered from many portunity to give all the information about the loop. What might have happened had the Brooklyn turned to port was purely a matter of conjecture. The turn in the other direction was completely successful. It was intimated that the turn to the southward had been to get away from the enemy, yet it was an indisputable fact that the turn had brought the Brooklyn closer to the Spanish fleet, and she received thir-ty of the forty-three shots which struck the American ships. Capt. Cook's tes-timony, he said, illumined this maneuv-er and he planted himself upon this testimony.

Those Charts.

Mr. Rayner then discussed the testinony of Heilner and Hodgson, and in this connection ridiculed the chart prepared by the navigators of the ships

"That navigator's chart," said he, "is a thing of joy forever. It is like the obliterated epitaph upon an antiquated obliterated epitaph upon an antiquated tombstone. Six navigators met and after three months of unremitting labor they resolved to give the world a chart of the battle of Santiago which, for all purposes of historical accuracy, might as well be a chart of the battle of Thermopylae or the field of Waterloo. As a disastrous failure the chart is a magnificent success."

As a disastrous failure the chart is a magnificent success."

In his evidence, said Mr. Rayner, Lieut. Commander Heilner said the Brooklyn passed across the bow of the Texas less than 150 yards away, while on the chart which he helped to prepare the distance between the two ships is given as 2,400 feet. Whether the engines of the Texas were storped or is given as 2,400 leet. Whether the engines of the Texas were stopped to backed, Mr. Rayner said, mattered little. This whole controversy about the loop seemed to have been started to prove that the Brooklyn ran away When this failed an attempt was made When this failed an attempt was made to drag in the alleged danger to the Texas. The testimony of Capt. Cook, he declared, exploded both. The counsel, on the other side, he said, would have to argue that Capt. Cook's testimony could not be relied upon or abandon the specification about the loop and the danger of colliding with the Texas.

Hodgson Controversy.

Mr. Rayner then took up specification No. 10, concerning the Hodgson controversy. He said he would not undertake the task of extricating Lieut. Commander Hodgson from his predicament, He read portions of Hodgson's testimony and again fell back upon Capt. Cook's testimony as decisive of the point at issue. Capt. Cook had said. Mr. Rayner stated, that the danger of collision had never entered his head. Even if Commodore Schley had said "Damn the Texas," continued Mr. Rayner, it would not have been a very serious matter as it could not have been meant seriously. Down in Anne Arundel county, Maryland, he said, they use such language in salutation, aaying.

"Beware of Potts!"

Mr. Rayner then took up the first specification—Admiral Schley's conduct during the campaign. "Now, we come to Mr. Wood and Mr. Potts," he began, "Mr. Potts and Mr. Wood; Mr. Wood and Mr. Potts," (Laughter in the court.) After reading the testi-mony of several officers as to the splen-(Concluded On Eighth Page.)

VIEW OF THE FEDERAL COURT.

Cincinnati, Nov. 6.-[Special.]-The United States Circuit Court of Appeals convened this morning for its November session. A decision of public importance was in the case of the Cumpany against the Home Telephone Company, in which it is held that the former company has no exclusive rights in Louisville, These concerns are at present fighting for the control of the general telephone business of Louisville. The Cumberland Company, which has been in the field there since 1886, is the operating under a charter or license lley Telephone Company, one of the Later reports from the imcomplete legslative and senatorial districts of Kentucky only served to strengthen Democratic claims of an overwhelming majority in both houses of the General Assembly. The official count cannot alter materially the complexion of either branch as announced yesterday. The Democratic majority in the Senate will hardly fall short of an even dozen, while in the House of Representatives there will not be enough seats on the Democratic side to provide places for berland Telephone and Telegraph Com- the Democrats, and some of them will have to sit with the opposite party. The majority will be at least forty-three.

The telegrams last night from incom

VICTORY IN MADISON.

Defeat To Republicans.

Richmond, Ky., Nov. 6 .- [Special.]-Madison county Democrats are to-day celebrating the greatest victory they have ever achieved. Some months ago he Republicans, headed by the Coun-Judge, caused the county to be relistricted, and four new Republican recincts were made to get control of the Fiscal Court. In yesterday's election the Republican County Judge was not only defeated, but the Democrats lected five out of eight Magistrates, something that has not happened here something that has not happened here since the war. Hon, James B. McCreary expresses himself as delighted with the results of the election. Madison county's majority will reach 500. Charles L. Searcy, Representative, ran shead of the ticket, defeating W. T. Harris, the former Representative, by 578. The Democrats elected a full city ticket, carrying the city by 208.

For a meeting of a political complexion, it was a strange one. There was little or nothing said about the other party. In fact, the speakers and audience were so well satisfied that there was no other party that they gave themselves up solely to the enjoyment of their own

When Chairman A. E. Richards commenced his journey up the long steps, there were 600 people who had made that same journey before him. For half an hour they continued to come. The hall filled and the men sat expectant. For over in the western aisle Mr. Charles Grainger, the newly-elected Mayor, started on his way toward the stage. Some one recognized him and let loose a yell of Grainger.

All over the house men took up the slogan, and the newly-elected Mayor walked to his post of honor to the accompaniment of ear-splitting cheers and to the waving of the handkerchiefs of the women, who had come to catch a glimpse of the man who had changed a "normally Republican city" into a Democratic stronghold. While no one seriously believes that any of the Republican candidates really contemplate undertaking a contest, i the face of the orderly election and the overwhelming Democratic majority, a short time will reveal their plans. Deboe's Influence Gone.

It is the general opinion that the result of the general election, which makes certain the election of a Democratic Senator by the Legislature, has taken from Senator Deboe all the influence which he had with the President and the Republican leaders at Washington. The fact that he has but one more year to serve as Senator will not help him any, so far as Kentucky patronage is concerned. Consequently it is not thought that his recommendation for Collector in Louisville will have much weight with President Roosevell If the President acts on the advice of others in dealing with Mr. Sapp, it is probable that Messrs. Yerkes, Combs and Roberts will be his advisers.

Sapp's Last Card.

It is the general belief that Mr. Sapp would not have been retained as Collecor even if the Republicans had been ictorious in the city and State, but the result, which was a strong repudiation f his political course, will, it is said, nake his removal doubly certain. When asked last night about his case, "I am not discussing my own affairs.
I shall leave that for others to do."

Richmond Court Decides the Divorced Husband of Amelia Rives Is Not Insane.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 6.-The Alberarie County Court to-day heard the tition to appoint a committee for John Armstrong Chanler, the divorced husband of Amelia Rives, the Princess Troubetzkoy, the allegation being that hanler was insane. After examining a number of witnesses the court refused the petition, holding that nowhere did the testimony show insanity. This decision settled the question of Chanler's ability to manage his own property interests in Virginia, which will now be turned over to him. Chanler was placed in a sanizarium near New York City, and, escapling therefrom, was lost to public view

WOMAN BRINGS HIM TO TIME.

A tall, dark complexioned man, weighing about 160 pounds and wearing a long ragian overcoat, played the role of a private policeman on Eighteenth street last night and attempted to arrest William Erskins and afterward Mrs. Edward Wathen. He was an impostor and his motive was apparently o frighten his victims.

He first attempted to arrest Erskins. The young man lives out on the Eighteenth-street road, and it was about 8:30 clock when he and a young lady, who had accompanied him to Louisville started on their homeward journey, They were in a buggy and the horse was going at a brisk trot when they crossed Chestnut street.

"Halt!" and Erskins drew the horse to his haunches at the command. The tall man with the ragian coat stepped from the shadow of the trees. "Young man, you are under arrest,"

he said. "Under armst?" asked Erskins in s

"Why, what have I done?"

"Stole that horse and buggy, harness hip and all," calmly returned the stranger "And this is a stolen buggy?" questioned the young lady. "Well, I'll walk home. I didn't know that you were that kind of a man." Erskins was in an awful predicament. Here was a man who was evidently an officer accusing him of being a horse thief and the lady with him seemingly believed it. But his courage did not desert him.

"Where's your warrant? Of course I am innocent, but you won't believe me. I suppose that you are an officer."

"That I am," and he threw back the lapel of his coat. Erskins caught a glimpse of something bright and concluded that it was a badge.

"Well, this is an outrage. But I can't help it, and I guess I'll have to go with you. Where are you going to take me?"

The tall man said that he would take him to jail and allow the girl to drive the horse uptown.

him to jail and allow the girl to drive the horse uptown.

"No, I won't, either," she answered,
"I don't drive a stolen horse and buggy anywhere. I'll get out and walk."
Erskins' eyes were fastened upon the badge. He asked the man to walk to the electric light as he wanted to see what time it was. And he almost dropped in his tracks, for the badge was nothing more than a souvenir of the Chicago World's Fair. At the same time his captor chuckled. Erskins at-tempted to grappie with him, but the tall man turned and ran and the long coat did not interfere with his speed. Erskins telephoned his description to Central Station, Maj. Meanwhile Sergt. Buddell was doing all in his power to have the man "arrest" him. He took off his blue coat and secured a black one. What Congress May Do

The fall elections are over, and the public mind necessarily turns to other topics. The regular elections always impose, while impending, a certain reserve. A great many people have projects in their minds upon which they do not care to take the opinion of the electors. So they keep quiet about them until the elections are over.

Under our peculiar system, the Con-8 00 gress which was elected a year ago will meet for the first time within a month. When it assembles it will have still fifteen months of official life ahead, so that the first is generally known as the long session. The next regular session must end in about three months, because the terms of the members will expire March 4, 1903. But when the meeting of this year is begun, it may continue as long as the two houses dethe per week | sire, and in point of fact, the first session always continues beyond the 4th of the following March. How much longer it shall continue will depend upon the impending business and the wishes of the members to get back to their districts to look after their chances of re-election next November .1 cents A member of Congress is always supposed to desire a re-election. The cases where he does not are exceptional. Too long a session is not always calculated to promote his ambition to succeed himself in cases when his re-election is in doubt. There is, perhaps, no member of Congress whose seat is not desired by some one else, but when the chance of getting it is considered hopeless other aspirants do not declare themselves

What Congress will do at the next session is a puzzling question, but the preponderance of opinion is that it will, In the main, prefer a course of masterly inactivity, as, being the best way to avoid commitment to embarrassing questions. If this prove true, it will not be because plenty of business is not cut out for it. Most of the old bills, according to the usual custom, will be reintroduced, along with some new ones. The appropriation bills are always to be considered, and they afford good excuses frequently for sidetracking other business. At the next session the appropriations will bear a good deal of watching, as there is a large surplus revenue which many members desire to dissipate, some from innate love of the flag and an appropriation, others to avoid the trouble of reducing taxation. Already a thousand schemes are meditating to make the surplus a negligible quantity or even to transfer it into a deficit. The vultures in every section of the counle. Late in the afternoon there was try are gathering together to make a descent upon that hateful surplus. Ev ery one of them thinks a proposition to reduce taxation is an absurdity when there are so many delightful ways of spending the money. These men will be heavily re-enforced by the members who think our present closed %@4c down, corn 4@4c tariff is the best ever devised by the ats 1/4c. Good Times In the Textile Trade.

It is a long lane that has no turning, says the old proverb, and at last the turn seems to have come in the woolen active, over 25,000,000 pounds being sold in Boston last week, while all the mills are busy and new ones are being built and old ones enlarged everywhere. The American Wool and Cotton Reporter says in its current issue:

Twain's Funeral Oration.

It was Mark Twain's speech in calling the meeting to order at the headquarters that served as the spark to teuch off the pent enthusiasm. When he could make himself heard Mark Twain said:

"It is victory, glorious victory all along the line. We've swept 'em out of existence. They're gone, and you've had your share. Almost the entire pulpit, almost the whole press, all the vomen's organizations, yes, every moral force in the city and throughout the Inion, was arrayed against Tammany Hall. JUDGE BARKER TO DR. SMITH.

HOLDS NEGROES RESPONSIBLE FOR 90 PER CENT.

OF CRIME IN LOUISVILLE.

Points Out Convictions For Murder During Past Year.

DR. SMITH'S MOTIVE LAUDABLE.

Judge Barker, in giving his charge to the November grand jury yesterday, took occasion to refer to a recent sermon of the Rev. Dr. J. Kinsey Smith on "Crime and Criminals in Louisville" in which criticisms were passed on the courts. Judge Barker highly commended the general purport and object of the sermon, but urged that on account of the presence of the negro in Louisville it was not fair to compare the amount of crime committed in this city and State with that committed in Canada to the disparagement of the white people in Louisville.

"My predecessor is authority for the statement that 90 per cent. of the crime here is committed by negroes. I believe that he underestimated it.'

Judge Barker, at the outset, said that it was highly proper for ministers and all good citizens to take an active interest in the well-being of the city and conceded that Dr. Smith's criticisms were largely deserved. He, however, took exception to a statement of Dr. Smith that there had been no convictions for murder in this city during the present year.

I examined the records and found that out of sixteen trials for murder there were nine convictions. Judge Barker's table is as follows

Tom Davis, three years.
William Woods, ten years,
William Taylor, life,
Charles Langenbohn, life, Julia Trabue, death.

James Carter, ten years.

Jim Smith, life.

John Withers, three years.

Herman Clay, nineteen years.

Judge Barker then stated that in every case of homicide a man was charged with murder, but this was done not because all killings were murders, but in order to include all de-

I am the friend of the negro and without expecting the negroes are responsible for a vast amount of crime and will be responsible for many years. The rigid enforcement of the law will not reduce crime as much as the elevating influence of the pulpit, press and schoolhouse. There is where the remedy lies." Judge Barker said that in so speak-fault lies. There are many causes for this, in my judgment. "Kentuckians are not as wicked as they are painted. Eliminate the negroes and consider only the white people and one may search the world for more law-abiding, religious and cultiwated people than Kentucklans." Judge Barker charged the grand jury to investigate gambling and said that the police should know if it existed, and that neglect of duty on their part should meet with severe punishment Judge Barker said that he did not believe lotteries were being operated in orant people were being fleeced by a game of this character conducted in The grand jury is composed of the

Catarrh has become such a common disease that a person entirely free from this disgusting complaint is seldom met with. It is customary to speak of Catarrh as nothing more serious than a bad cold, a simple inflammation of the nose and throat. It is, in fact, a complicated and very dangerous disease; if not at first, it very soon becomes so. The blood is quickly contaminated by the foul secretions, and the poison through the general circulation is carried to all

The Nursing Mother

What a constant drain upon her strength the nursing mother sustains? How vitally important is robust healthimportant to mother and important to child.

Is there any time in a woman's life when perfect digestion is so absolutely essential?

The mother's condition at this time affects the whole family, and vitally affects the whole future life of the little, helpless infant.

The Genuine Johann Hoff's Malt Extract is the nursing mother's friend and safeguard. It sustains the mother's strength in the days before the child is born, and is a staff to lean upon at all times, especially until the child is weaned. The peculiar fitness of for sustaining a nursing mother's strength is well known. It makes flesh and blood by promoting a perfect digestion. This keeps the nerve centres in full control and most excellent results follow. There is no mystery about the action of this great flesh and blood builder; it aids nature by the perfect assimilation of food, in which is the mainspring of all strength.

Dr. I. M. Burns of Denver, Colorado, says: "I consider JOHANN HOFF'S MALT EXTRACT superior to all other remedies in the treatment of suppression of milk, and as a general tonic for nursing mothers.

MANY PRESENTS RECEIVED.

Washington, Nov. 6 .- Maj. Gen. Henwere married at noon to-day at the Patten residence, 2122 Massachusetts avenue, in the presence of a notable assemblage, which included the President and Mrs. Roosevelt, Miss Alice Roosevelt and representatives of official, diplomatic and resident society. His eminence, Cardinal Gibbons, performed the marriage ceremony, assisted by the Rev. Dr. J. D. Stafford, of St. Patrick's church. A wedding breakfast followed. Gen. Corbin and his bride left this afternoon for New York, where iage of Col. George R. Dyer and Miss Grace G. Scott, before continuing on their honeymoon trip, via Niagara, to Montreal. Upon their return they will reside at the Arlington Hotel here until their future home in the west end of the city is completed.

Impressive Ceremony.

The impressive ceremony took place the drawing-room, elaborately decthe elder Miss Patten as hostess and the others as attendants, were her only relatives present. Miss Patten, the bride's sister, received the guests. She was richly gowned in pale blue cloth, trimmed with flowers, appliqued in cloth. When the President and Mrs. Roosevelt and Miss Roosevelt arrived they were received by the Secretary of War and escorted to places reserved for

Gen. Corbin's daughter, Mrs. William M. Parsons, of New York, and her hus-band were present.

Bride's Costume.

The bride entered the drawing-room with Senator John P. Jones, of Ne-yada, a longtime friend of the Patten family. The bride's wedding dress was of heavy white satin, having a very long train. The waist was laid in soft, loose folds of the satin down to the belt line, and across the shoulders and chest was a cape or yoke of finely

GREAT MAGNITUDE.

SUBTERRANEAN CHANNEL.

Monticello, Ky., Nov. 6 .- [Special.]ducing a second mammoth cave in Kentucky. To any one that knows this country the experience of Smith & Co., of Lexington, who are drilling east of Sunnybrook, is significant. This firm shifted its drilling location four times because the tools went into a cavern each time at about a depth of ninety to one hundred feet. There is every reason to believe that Smith & Co. went into the same cave with every hole they drilled. Their third location was fully one-half mile from the first, and their present location is more than one-half mile from the last, None of these locations is on a direct line, so the cavern must have width as well as length. In themselves these facts might not be extraordinary, but considered with the features of the surrounding country the existence of a tremendous cave becomes almost a certainty.

"Blowing Cave."

Where Smith & Co. are drillng is about three miles east of the Blowing Cave" known far and wide through this section of the country. Blowing Cave is a gaping hole not far from Dry Fork and it is so named because a wind is constantly coming from t in a wild sweep and it can be heard cutting and shricking inside the cavern No one has ever had the temerity t enter at this point, nor would it hardly be possible. It is an accepted theory that the air coming from Blowing Cave omes from deep water that is rushing brough the cavern.

Going on an east line from Blowing Cave for about one and one-half miles cave for about one and one-half miles another cave entrance is met. This is on Nick Albertson's farm. No one has ever been beyond this entrance far enough to tell where it leads.

The cave entrance on Nick Albertson's farm is near no running water. The entrance to Blowing Cave is one-half mile back from Dry Fork. The Smith operations are not near a stream of any depth or strength. It is well to remember these points to establish the theory of this cave, its character and dimensions.

Great Arched Entrance.

Carpenter's Fork runs west and north from the cave opening on the Albertson farm, and at a point about two and one-half miles along the Carpenter's Fork there is a great arched entrance to a cave on what is known as the Balen Piercy farm. This entrance, like Albertson's entrance, is not near the waters of Carpenter's Fork. It is about fork south of its eastern bend. A line drawn from Albertson's cave to the grand entrance on the Balen Piercy farm connects the entrances northwest and southeast and the same line continued cuts through Blowing Cave and the Smith operations six miles distant land range are a dead wall against both streams and there is no possibility of a flood or backwater here, for the course of the streams is north.

Huge Logs.

It is important to remember these last two points. They affect the statement that inside of the grand entrance on the Balen Piercy farm are huge logs branded by their owners as logs are up Otter Creek, or Carpenter's Fork, and if they did they could not have got and if they did they could not have got inside of Balen Piercy's cave entrance, a half mile across the fields, Nobody in this section has heard of a flood and there could not well be a flood that would inundate this territory, without some reversal of the processes of nature, Neither does local tradition give any record of a flood.

Subterranean Channel.

Those logs must have entered this cave through a subterranean channel and they may have come either from the Big South Fork, twenty miles to the east, or from the headwaters of the Wolf river, twelve miles south in Tennessee, with a mountain range lying No explorations have been made of and again, as a place of assemblage.

Parties innumerable have been held there. Men and women, boys and girls have met there and danced to music and sung songs and shouted to get the echo of their voices, yet no one penetrated.

Charges Highway Robbery, But Is Charged With Ringing In Phony Die.

A case was tried and decided in Magistrate Richards' court in New Albany yesterday afternoon that had some peculiar features connected with it and which terminated in a very unusual manner. Herbert Merriwether, a young man of that city, was arrested Tuesday night by Patrolmen Walls, Tully and Dennison, on complaint of Harry Baker, who charged highway robbery. He was released on bond of $200 for his appearance at the trial yesterday afternoon, having entered a plea of not

On October 29, Merriwether, Baker and several others were engaged in shooting craps in the woods on the bank of Silver creek, a short distance east of New Albany. It is charged that Paker slipped in a set of crooked dice and before the fraud was discovered Merriwether had lost $24, all the money he had. He then examined the dice and it is said that he drew a pistol, poked the weapon under Baker's nose and compelled him to hand over the money he had just won. The same and while he was engaged in the work of compelling resiltution he made Baker give up his gold watch as security for the return of the last-mentioned winning. The parties all appeared in Magistrate Richards' court yesterday afternoon, where witnesses were examined and the crooked dice were carefully examined by the Magistrate. After carefully considering the subject, he discharged Merriwether and fined Baker $33.80 on a charge of gambling, which had been preferred in the meantime.

New York.—During the morning, after rather a strong opening, the market became irregular, the two the appearance of heavy liquidation. Union Pacific scored the greatest advance, but mor that the Northern Pacific controversy had been practically settled and the election of Seth Low and the fusion ticket in New York. Toward the lunch hour prices advanced generally, and during the afternoon the advances were continued, the market finally ciosing extremely strong and at about the best figures of the day. St. Paul, which was a leggard during the morning, gained about 4½ points from the lowest, in spite of the existence of the belief that it was not concerned in the Northern Pacific settlement. People in a position to know are nevertheless convinced that the Northern Pacific settlement will bring with it important arrangements in regard to the relations between all roads in the Middle West and Northwest and tions, which have also been a serious drawback to lively speculation, will no doubt ease up during the month and encourage the brokers generally to buy. The American Sugar Refining Company reduced its price for refined about 10 points and the stock declined a little in the day's dealings, but we believe it will reach a higher level in the near future.—(W. L. Lyons & Co. Do 21 pref. Do 21 pref. Do: and Hud.

To-day has demonstrated what the effect of the extilement of the Northern Pacific dispute would be, a question on which for so long Wall street has been speculating. It has developed at the close of the day that it looks like a real built market, in the railroads especially. Southern common and preferred were early features and are really discounting the placing of the preferred stock on a 5 per cent, basis, which will be done at the first dividend declaration next year. The dealings in Union Pacific and St. Paul were on a scale to recall the days of the stock market boom in the spring of this year and the resulting rise in St. Paul reached 4% and in Union Pacific 4%. The Union Pacific convertible bonds were absorbed at the same time on an enormous scale. In Southern Pacific the rise reached 1%. Great Northern preferred 1%. Atchison 2% and in Northwest 3%. Northern Pacific preferred fluctuated narrowly, thus suggesting that its present price is near to its valuation under the plan. The Southwesterns and some of the Southern stocks afforded another center of activity and strength based on the series of extraordinarily favorable returns of gross earnings for the fourth week in October. The Southern Railway stocks were also aided by the vote of Cincinnati in favor of extending the lease of the Cincinnati Southern. In these groups there were gains in Nashville, Chattanoga and St. Louis of 3½. St. Louis and San Francisco 3%. Southern Railway preferred 2%, Missouri Pacific 2%, St. Lous Southwestern preferred 2 and the Denver and Rio Grande stocks, Missouri Pavific 2%. St. Louis Southwestern pre-ferred 2 and the Denver and Rio Grande stocks, Texas and Pacific, Lovieville and Nashville and Southern Railway from 1% to 1%. The increase in railway earnings for the fourth week in Octo-bar over those for the corresponding period of last year for Missouri Pacific reached 22 per cent. St. Louis and San Francisco 25 per cent., Louisville and Nashville 14 per cent. and Mis-souri, Kansas and Texas 12 per cent. There were other roads with almost equally striking gains, but they did not share in the advance. In fact, outside the stocks mentioned and a few rather obscure stocks the movement of the mar-ket was sluggish, with no show of strength until

SUPREME COURT CASES TO BE TRIED.

Louisville Attorneys Go To Washington To Argue the Nugent and Simonson-Whiteson Bankruptcy Suits.

Notice was received yesterday by interested attorneys to the effect that two important Louisville cases will be taken up by the Supreme Court at Washington the latter part of this week or early next week. The first is the Nugent case, and the other the Simonson, Whiteson & Co. case, both growing out of bankruptcy proceedings.

he Nugent case is styled Arthur E. Mueller, trustee, against W. T. Nugent, and the suit is ultimately to compel W. Nugent to turn over to the trustee for the benefit of creditors of the late E. B. Nugent $14,000 taken possession of by W. T. Nugent a few hours before the bankruptcy of E. B. Nugent. The District Court in this city, Judge Evans presiding, ordered Nugent confined in jail until he turn over this money. The Circuit Court at Cincinnati reversed Judge Evans, and then appeal was made to the Supreme Court at Washington against the ruling of the Circuit Court. W. W. Watts, attorney for Mueller, and W. M. Smith, attorney for Nugent, left for Washington last night to present their briefs and make arguments,

In the other case, it is sought to compel Leonard Comingore, as assignee of Simonson, Whiteson & Co., to turn over to the Louisville Trust Company, trustee, the sum of $6,500 which Comingore reports as expended by him in the assignment made to him. This case will be argued by D. A. Sachs and W. M. Smith, for Comingor, and Augustus E. Willison for the Louisville Truse Company. Messrs. Sachs and Willson will leave Friday night.

STEPS Remarkable Success of A Remarkable Young Actor

Eight years ago Marie Jansen came | playing the light comedy role, Capt. Frank Holland, was a young actor, William Norris, on whom the dramatic critic of the Courier-Journal spent much ink. The next year Marie Jansen came again and this time the young actor's ability was more pronounced, Many he charmed with his acting, the rest by his fine technical skill and the feeling with which he played a musical selection on the piano that the part de-

When the engagement was over, the young actor had acquired a local following. Then for several seasons Louisville playgoers missed Norris.

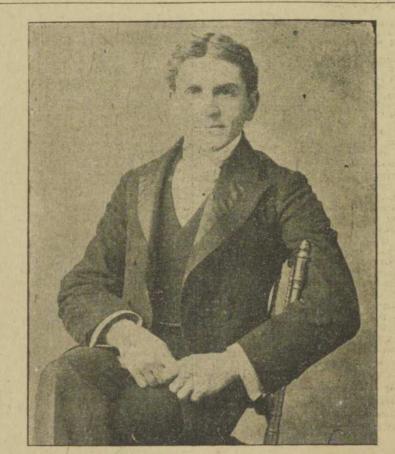

Two years ago Zangwill's ill-starred "Children of the Ghetto" was put on. It played at Macauley's and, under the subdued demeanor, the black beard, the sly, insinuating manner of the soulful Hebrew poet, Melchitsedek Pinchas, dreamy, slow Ghetto picture.

"In the Palace of the King" was to Louisville giving a little play, "Del- produced. The dreaming poet of the monico's at Six," and in her company, year before became the weak, hunch back dwarf whose love for two sisters led him to plot and plan, brave death and outwit treachery as the bravest romantic gentleman might have done It was a hard role, that of Adonis, and by it Norris stepped a notch higher and clinched his hold as a splendid character actor.

During the summer, instead of resting he originated the part of "King Dodo," in the comic opera hit that recently played in Louisville. But Otis Skinner was meditating his chief am-bition, a grand production of "Frances-ca da Rimini." He needed a fine actor to play the part of Beppo Pepe, the maley olent jester who, driven by the abus of the two brothers, was in his ow way to set about fulfilling the prophec that the blood of Polentas and the Mal that the blood of Polentas and the Mal-atestas should mingle, Quite naturally Mr. Skinner, true to his artistic ideals that demand always the best, picked William Norris for the role. The result has been a triumph for the judgment of Mr. Skinner and it has made secure for Mr. Norris his position among the most versatile of American character most versatile of American character

BOARD OF TRADE FAVORS RECI-PROCITY WITH FRANCE.

Asks the Kentucky Senators To Vote For Its Ratification This Winter.

The Board of Trade directors, at their meeting yesterday, had before them a communication from the Committee of Arrangements of the National Reciprocity Convention giving notice of a convention of manufacturers to be held in the city of Washington, November 19 to 21, and asking the board to send ten delegates and ten alternates to the convention. The communication stated that only active manufacturers would be recelved as delegates.

The directors referred the communication to the Board of Trade Manufacturers' Committee, with power to appoint the delegates and alternates.

The board passed a resolution requesting the United States Senators from Kentucky to vote for the ratification of the reciprocity treaty between the United States and the Republic of France recently negotiated, which will come up before the Senate for ratifica-tion when it assembles in December. the trade advantages under the treaty were greatly to the benefit of the Unit-

The National Association of Referees in Bankruptcy, acting upon request of the Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives, has asked the opin-ion of the board as to the present bank-rupt law; its working, and what, if any, alterations should be made in the law by the coming Congress.

This subject was referred to the Board of Trade Executive Committee for consideration and report back to the Board of Directors.

The Executive Committee, of which Mr. Charles Earl Currie is chairman, will at once take the matter up, and the committee would be glad to receive the committee would be glad to receive suggestions in writing from merchants, lawyers, and others who have opinions on the subject. Any suggestions as to amendment of the present bankruptcy law, and opinions as to the value of the law, etc., should be addressed to the chairman of the committee and sent to the Board of Trade.

Be One of His New Deputies.

James M. Fetter was elected Bond Commissioner for the city of Louisville by the Judges of the four divisions of the Jefferson Circuit Court to succeed himself for a term of four years. At the two previous meetings of the Judges to elect a Bond Commissioner, Judge Field and Judge Miller voted for Judges to elect a Bond Commissioner, Judge Field and Judge Miller voted for Judges to elect a Bond Commissioner, Judge Field and Judge Miller voted for Judges to elect a Bond Commissioner, Judge Field and Judge Miller voted for Judges Title Park Tory Conference in Washington.

the two previous meetings of the Judges to elect a Bond Commissioner, Judge Field and Judge Miller voted for John B. Williamson, and Judge Barker and Judge Toney for Mr. Fetter.

Yesterday Judge Field nominated Horace A. Lindsay, clerk of the Common Pleas division, and Judge Miller seconded his nomination. Judge Barker and Judge Toney still voted for Mr. Fetter, and the vote was two and two. Finally, Mr. Fetter was elected, and it is said with the understanding that Mr. Williamson was to be given a position in the office. The present deputies are John J. Shelley and A. J. Ashman, and it is believed Mr. Williamson will succeed Mr. Shelley.

Next Lecture To Be Given On November 18 At Music Hall By Prof. Dinsmele.

The next entertainment in the Louisville Lyceum course will be given at Music Hall on Monday evening, November 18, at 8 o'clock. The lecturer will be Prof. Thomas H. Dinsmore, of Syracuse, N. Y. His subject will be "A Wonderful Structure (The Man of To-day)." It is of the popular scientific nature which characterizes Prof. Dinsmore's entertainments and is very highly commended. He has appeared before the leading Chautauqua assemblies and received calls from all parts of the country, and is widely known as a popular and attractive speaker. His lectures are marvels of prace and electures are practically and practically are proposed and practically are provided and practically are practically are practically are practically are provided and practically are prac a popular and attractive speaker. His lectures are marvels of grace and eloquence, and are intensely interesting to all who hear them. His chemical demonstrations never fall, and his thoughts are expressed in the clearest and choicest terms. When he recently delivered his lecture "A Wonderful Structure" in Anderson, Indiana, he was introduced by Hon. Will Cumback, exLieutenant Governor, who stated that though he had heard the same lecture the preceding year, he had traveled sixty miles that day in order to hear it a second time.
